

Financial Analyst – Investment Banking

SenaHill Partners, a merchant bank focused on the financial technology (fintech) sector, is seeking a financial analyst with at least one year's work experience to join the Investment Banking Group. The investment banking group focuses on capital raises, mergers & acquisitions, and general advisory to fintech companies. As a key member of the group, the financial analyst is actively involved in all phases of a transaction or project. We are a small, collegial group and are looking for an experienced individual that can jump in, be a key member of the team and make an impact from day one. The financial analyst will also be involved in supporting the firm's merchant banking/principal investment portfolio companies with banking-related transactions and other support services. If you are interested in the dynamic fintech sector, this job provides a front-row seat. This job is based in New York.

Skills and Qualifications Required:

- Prior financial analyst experience (at least one year)
- Undergraduate degree in Finance, Accounting or Economics.
- Financial modeling experience and understanding of financial statements, valuation methodologies
- Strong communication, analytical and data organization/ interpretation skills
- Attention to detail and accuracy is required; proven ability to multi-task
- Superior skills with Microsoft Office applications (Excel, PowerPoint, Word, Outlook)
- Familiarity with financial databases such as Capital IQ, Factset, Pitchbook, etc.

If you are interested, please submit your resume and cover letter to careers@senahill.com.

